BOLD DAYLIGHT ROBBERY.

About four o'clock this morning the automatic scale in front of the traction station was broken into and the cash box removed. The machine is the property of A. C. Cook, the confectioner. Mr. Cook says there was possibly between two to three dollars' worth of pennies in the machine.

George Rettig, who is employed by the Ohio Utilities company, was coming on duty and was turning the corner of Court and High streets when he heard a terrific pounding and as he neared the station, he saw three boys, run East on Watt street and disappear in the alley at Arthur Weigand's residence. Later Officer McCrady found the tin box that contained the pennies. The boys who did the work were hoboes who had been given shelter in the "hobo" camp, overnight.

ASK EXEMPTION IN TAXATION AUTOMOBILES

Petitions are Being Circulated—Aim to Get Quarter Million Signatures.

Cleveland, O., April 22, (UP) — Petitions to bring about the submission of a constitutional amendment exempting automobiles from taxation in Ohio were put in circulation Thursday at 200 gasoline filling stations throughout the city.

The movement sponsored by the Automobile Owners' Protective league of which City Councilman Peter Witt is chairman, is aimed at getting the required 250,000 signatures of qualified electors in at least 44 of the 88 counties in the state.

"During 1925 the automobile owners of the state of Ohio have been compelled to pay out more than $23,000,000 for license plates and gas tax," said Witt. In 1926 they will have to pay even more and with the legislature meeting again soon, and no restrictions placed upon it, the burden will rapidly grow still greater.

"The constitutional amendment proposed by the automobile owners protective league will exempt the automobile from taxation," declared Witt.

STOKOWSKI HAS A JOKE

Has Players To Imitate Habits of Audiences—Just a Bit of Satire.

Philadelphia, April 20.—(UP.)—Leopold Stokowski, conductor of the Philadelphia orchestra, has had his little joke on patrons of music and his audience doesn't know whether to grin or scowl.

It seems that Philadelphia audiences arrive late. They also leave early. All of which annoyed the eminent Stokowski.

Hence yesterday's program was devoted to satire. When the curtain went up only two musicians were in their places. These played alone until other players entered hurriedly, made unnecessary commotion in taking their seats and began to play.

Then there was a second surprise. In the midst of another number one or two in the orchestra, apparently wearied of playing walked off the stage. The exodus continued until only two were left. Finally those also departed, but Stokowski kept up his "direction" to the end, bowed to his phantom orchestra, then to the audience and the concert was over.

Some in the audience applauded the satire. Others hissed. A few much disgruntled, walked out.

WASHINGTON SPECIALS

Washington, April 20.—(UP.)—President Coolidge does not favor national censorship of moving-pictures but believes that certain powers should be placed in the hands of state authorities. The president's spokesman today pointed out that Mr. Coolidge while governor of Massachusetts vetoed a bill creating a state censorship board. He remarked, however, that the opposition was based on constitutional right rather than on the merits of the pictures.

Enactment of the Caraway bill to prevent the sale of cotton and grain in future markets would result "in strangulation of trade in cotton and grain on the exchanges where these crops are finally marketed," according to a report submitted to the Senate today by Senator Ransdell, Democrat, Louisiana.

Believed To Be Only Father of President of U. S. To Survive His Son.

Washington, April 20.—Rarely in American history has it happened that a father has lived to see his son become president of the United States.

Still more rarely has it happened that a father has survived a son who occupied the White House and lived well into the administration of his successor.

In fact, so far as the records show, it has happened only once, and that in the case of Dr. George Tyron Harding, father of the lamented President Warren G. Harding.

Dr. Harding, still sound and vigorous at 82, arrived in Washington this week from Florida, where, with his wife, he spent the winter. He visited his hometown congressman, Representative Brooks Fletcher, of Marion, at the capitol, called on Senators Frank B. Willis and Simeon D. Fess and paid his respects to President Coolidge and Vice President Dawes.

Although he lives much in the glories of the past—the thrilling years of his youth when he served as a Union soldier in the Civil war, the peaceful post-war years when he reared his large family and made his rounds as a country doctor, and the later proud years when he watched his distinguished son rise to the presidency—Dr. Harding continues an active and intense interest in the present.

In Florida he caught the boom spirit, invested money in real estate and not long ago saw a Harding subdivision opened near Orlando. He has faith in Florida, notwithstanding the gradual deflation of the boom and he plans to return there for many recurring winters to come.

One of Dr. Harding's concerns in Washington was the Elliott bill, increasing Civil war pensions. The average age of Union veterans is now 83. They are rapidly dying and becoming totally disabled. Their need is increasingly greater. Dr. Harding told the president that many are actually in distress because their present stipends are inadequate.

METHODIST BISHOP

Testifies Before Senate Prohibition Committee.

Washington, April 20.—(UP.)—"We firmly believe that liberty can only be secured under law, and that anarchy and the utter destruction of lawful government would follow the adoption of the principle that whenever laws are found difficult to enforce they should be amended to permit milder forms of evil," Bishop William M. Fraser McDowell of the Methodist Episcopal Church said.

"We do not trust the distillers, the brewers, the saloon-keepers or those who are hired by them to do their work."

Bishop McDowell asserted that the cause for the wet campaign was the desire of the liquor interests to regain a foothold, and that beer and light wines were only being used as a facile means to that end.

"It voices a universal law, that only a sober people can make a growing, progressive and Christian nation," he said.

STATE'S LAST

Witness In Lyon Case Testified Against Prisoner.

Norwalk, April 20.—(UP.)—Fred Cole, a pistol expert, delivered what was described as a smashing blow to the defense of James "Two-Gun" Lyon today when he testified that the bullet which killed Detective Frank E. McGrath was fired from a distance of only about six inches. Lyon, on trial for the alleged murder of McGrath, will raise the defense that he did not fire the fatal shot but that it was fired by one of McGrath's brother officers who had accompanied the detective to Havana, near here, to arrest James and his brother Leonard on charges of robbery.

Cole testified he based his opinion on the fact that large powder burns were visible on the clothing of the slain officer. He was the State's last witness.

After the reading of a few minor documents, the state planned to rest its case.

Plans to Increase Soil Productivity

Crop Rotation as Good as Manure and Fertilizers.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

In the practice of crop rotation a farmer has at his command a means whereby he can materially reduce acre costs or increase the output of his land, says W. W. Weir, associate soil technologist of the United States Department of Agriculture. Perhaps that fact is not news to many farmers who have been using rotation in their crop system; they know it is a beneficial practice.

They may be surprised, however, says Mr. Weir, to learn that crop rotation is nearly as effective in increasing soil productivity as the use of manure and commercial fertilizers. Furthermore, crop rotation can be practiced usually with no outlay of money, whereas the use of commercial fertilizers requires an expenditure of money.

A study of the long-continued soil fertility experiments of this country and of England, made by the Department of Agriculture, has brought out some important facts about crop rotation in its relation to soil productivity. In general, says Mr. Weir, they show that rotation without the use of manure or commercial fertilizers is nearly as efficient in effecting crop increases as the use of fertilizers without rotation. The beneficial effects of crop rotation are different from the benefits derived from the use of fertilizers; so that when these two farm practices are combined the one practice adds to the benefits of the other, making the resultant increase almost twice that secured by either practice used alone.

On soils long under cultivation highest yields are possible only when rotation and the use of fertilizers are practiced together.

Dairy Cow Has Financed Farmers When Needed

Farmers realized nearly as much from dairy cows during 1925 as from their corn and wheat crops combined, according to figures issued by the National Dairy council.

According to careful estimates based on investigation, the farm value of all dairy products for the year 1925, is $2,700,000,000. This is only about $200,000,000 less than the total farm value of wheat and corn, the government estimate of the combined farm value of the latter being $2,904,233,000.

"But the important fact," states M. D. Munn, president of the National Dairy council, "is that American farmers have marketed their dairy products day by day throughout the year without any accumulated surplus on their hands and have thus received funds with which they have been able to live and help finance their other farm operations, while they still have much of their corn and wheat on hand."

"This vast sum of nearly two and three-fourths billions has financed diversified farming in this country and relieved agriculture from what would otherwise have been insurmountable difficulties, especially in view of the accumulated surplus of grains together with the low prices that now prevail. In addition to the cash return to the farmer through the dairy cow he has also been supplied with dairy products for his own family use, which have materially assisted in reducing living expenses."

Sweet Clover Requires Firm, Moist Seed Bed

Sweet clover seed, being very small, should be planted shallow. In order that it may grow when planted shallow, the soil must be quite firm and full of moisture. Perhaps most of the failures with sweet clover are due to plowing, or otherwise loosening up the seed bed before planting the crop in the spring. Early spring plowing loosens and permits the top soil to dry out and so prevent a good stand of sweet clover.

Land to be planted to this crop should be fall plowed, or, even better, summer fallowed the year preceding. Where such land is not available, corn, stalk land, millet or cane land is suitable, giving it only a light disking as preparation before seeding sweet clover. As much of the stubble as possible should be left standing to catch snow and prevent soil blowing.

Sweet clover should be planted as early in the spring as possible. Use eight to ten pounds of clean, scarified seed per acre. Where possible, drill in the seed, planting at the depth of one inch. Where one cannot drill so shallow, he should broadcast and harrow in the seed. No nurse crop should be used.—Waldo Kidder, Extension Agronomist, Colorado College of Agriculture.

Hens Used for Hatching Purposes Need Dusting

All hens used for egg-hatching purposes should be dusted with a good louse powder when they are placed on the eggs. The only preparation known to kill lice with one application is sodium fluoride. Put a piece of sod in the bottom of the nest to prevent excessive evaporation. Set two hens at a time so that the chicks may be given to one hen later. Feed cracked or whole grains to the hiddies, being careful to avoid feeds that stimulate egg production or cause digestive disorders, say poultry extension specialists of the Pennsylvania State college.

Wools in Rugs Blended

When oriental rugs are being manufactured, the wool used is often blended from specimens received from all parts of the wool-growing world. This gives the combination of luster, strength and long fiber required. Proper blending contributes much to the finished appearance of the rug.

AMUSEMENTS

When you see Raymond Griffith at the Met theater you'll readily admit "He's a Prince!" in the picture by the title which holds a high class program.

"He's a Prince!" directed by Edward Sutherland from Keene Thompson's adaptation of the story by Reginald Morris and Joseph Mitchell, is a strictly Griffith story, with Griffith gags and Griffith ideas.

As a young and exceedingly likeable prince of modern times, Ray whose life is an endless chain of cornerstone layings, parade reviewings, ship christenings, etc., declares a strike for shorter hours and more fun. He is informed that his appointment book is filled for months to come. He can't quit, so he decides to run away.

And run away he does, sneaking out of the castle with a party of tourists. Mary Brian is in the crowd and the prince falls for her right then and there. She pooh-poos the idea that he is a prince and Ray chases her all over the country with his love-making, only to be overtaken by his father's prime minister who hands him an official looking document which announces the death of the king.

So back to the palace goes Ray, fidgets thru the coronation ceremony wondering why the girl, who had promised to be there, doesn't show up. Thru with the king game for good. Ray sets out from under his crown and ermine robe by arranging with an anarchist, who has been agitating for years to dethrone him. Free again, Ray starts after Mary. This time he wins her. Now that he has the girl of his dreams, he believes his parade-reviewing, uniform changing days are over, only to discover at the tag end of the picture that he has to do all these things just the same as when he was king—now that he is president of the new republic.

Paramount furnished Griffith with his own special comedy production unit for this one. More power to them!

Remember Mary Brian as "The Little French Girl" and in "The Street of Forgotten Men?" She's more charming than ever here.

Tyrone Power is cast as the king, Ray's father; Nigel de Bruliere is the revolutionist who double-crosses Griffith and Gustav Von Seyffertitz is cast as the prime minister. Others include Kathleen Kirkham, Carl Stockdale, Michael Dark, Lincoln Plummer in a comedy role, as the tourist guide Jacqueline Gadson and Jerry Austin.

Screw's Evolution

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

ANCIENT VIKING KINGS WERE CREMATED IN KILNS

Recent Excavations in Swedish Mounds Shed Light on Unique Funeral Services.

Upsala, Sweden.—Proof that the Viking kings of Sweden were cremated inside of firmly constructed kilns and not on top of ordinary pyres has been unearthed here by Prof. Sune Lindquist during his excavations in one of the famous funeral mounds located near this university city known as the Swedish "Cradle of Culture." Long before Stockholm became the capital, Upsala was the seat of the Swedish kings and when they died their bodies were solemnly burned as a special homage.

Through observation of the materials uncovered inside a hitherto unopened mound, the archeologist has come to the conclusion that for a king's funeral some 1,500 years ago an elaborate and solid structure of wood was erected on the traditional site and inside this building the royal remains and certain weapons and ornaments were placed to accompany him on the journey to Valhalla.

The successive layers of gravel, burnt clay and ashes prove that the funeral kiln was constructed on a pile of loose stones which admitted air from below, and then logs were fitted together to form a small dome with an opening at the top. Then after the king's body had been placed inside, the walls were coated with a thick layer of clay, making them air-tight. When therefore a torch was applied at the base, a strong draft helped to start the conflagration that consumed both logs and contents.

After the combustion of the inner frame the clay coating also collapsed and the entire remains were then covered up with sand and gravel. In this way the mounds grew in height with each royal funeral and today some of them are as high as 30 feet.

This interpretation of the cremation method which has its counterpart in certain Roman customs, is strikingly confirmed both by passages in the Icelandic sagas and Anglo-Saxon epic about Beowulf. One of the incidents in the Icelandic literature for instance tells of a Swedish king named Frey, who had ruled his people in peace for many years and when he died, he was secretly put inside of a pyre, built with a door and three openings and fearing failure of crops and war, as soon as his spirit departed for Valhalla, his subjects kept him there for three years before they applied the torch.

14 Billions Yearly

U. S. Auto Expense

New York.—America's automobile bill, including costs of cars, insurance, upkeep, gasoline and numerous other items of expense, totals more than $14,000,000,000 annually, the bureau of industrial technology estimates in a report made public here. Figures obtained by the bureau showed that it costs the average automobile owner $700 a year to own and operate his car.

The figures were computed from statistics of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, the Motors and Accessories Manufacturers' association, tire producers' organizations, insurance companies, labor organizations and gasoline and oil distributors. The survey revealed, according to the bureau, that the nation's annual retail investment in automobiles is twice as great as the annual investment in new buildings.

The average retail value of cars, including accessories, was found to be $1,000. Of the present output at the rate of 4,000,000 automobiles annually approximately $150,000,000 worth are exported.

Demonstrating where the "automobile dollar" goes, the bureau prepared a table showing that the costs of cars and accessories now stand at approximately $3,750,000,000 annually; depreciation was estimated at $2,500,000,000; upkeep, repairs, $2,000,000,000; drivers' wages, $1,600,000,000; gasoline, $1,200,000,000; garages, $900,000,000; taxes, $625,000,000; interest on investment, $500,000,000; tires, $618,000,000; oil, $300,000,000 and insurance $300,000,000.

Increase in Jobs and Earnings Is Reported

Washington.—Employment in manufacturing industries and employees' earnings continued to increase during February, declares a bureau of labor statistics report, giving the employment gain as 1.1 per cent and the earnings increase as 4.2 per cent as compared with January. Since February, 1925, the advances have totaled 2.9 per cent for employment and 4 per cent for earnings. The figures were based on reports from 9,540 establishments, covering 2,952,165 employees, whose combined earnings in one week were $79,793,644.

You Tell Him!

Harrodsburg, Ky.—Arthur Barr evidently needs advice from some married men. He saved his way out of jail here and when captured told authorities he wanted to get married and thought he "might as well go and do it."

Prefer United States Girls

New York.—Eight young immigrants, who, after making their pile, went back to Greece for brides, have returned single, having decided that the most beauty is where the most money is.

GEO. K. WRIGHT EMBARKS IN AUTO BUSINESS

At London, Ohio With Olen V. Bostwick Formerly of This City.

George K. Wright, former resident of Ashville, widely and favorably known in Pickaway county where he still has landed interests both in Walnut and Madison townships, and was formerly interested in the Ashville Banking Co., of Ashville and was assistant cashier; also in the Hosler Packing Co., of Circleville, of which company he was part owner and sales man which interest he disposed of several months ago.

He now informs us that he has again embarked in business with O. V. Bostwick as his partner. This business firm has chosen to operate for the Buick automobile in London, Ohio.

Mr. Wright says they have purchased a desirable corner location on one of the best streets in London and are erecting a modern fire proof garage with sales room attached for their use and that prospects for a successful business is encouraging.

His many friends here extend their most enthusiastic wishes for the complete business success of this new firm in our neighboring city.—Pickaway Ashville News.

Little Really Endures

Allegorical Description

Oil was used for burning in lamps as early as the time of the Patriarch Abraham. It was the custom of the ancient Jews to anoint with oil persons appointed to high offices, as the priests and kings. The oil so used was the oil of the olive common throughout the East from very early times. One of its uses was that of an article of diet. A land of corn and oil and wine was a brief description of a rich, attractive country.

He did his gift-shopping at the jeweler's!

A JEWELRY PURCHASE IS AN INVESTMENT IN PERMANENT VALUES

MEN and nations pass. But their jewelry remains. Of all the possessions of ancient civilizations, the most enduring have been the tokens wrought in precious stones and metals. Gone are the palaces of Egyptian kings; their gorgeous apparel and equipages. But scattered among the museums of today, in all parts of the world, many of their jewels are still intact; more beautiful and infinitely more valuable than ever.

Today, as always, a purchase at the jeweler's is an investment in permanent values.

Jewelry is one of the few luxury commodities which can be "consumed" year by year, decade after decade, without materially lessening the quantity or quality of the basic value! Building up a line of jewelry means building up an asset-heritage for future generations, while enjoying the delight and charm of beautiful adornment in the building. The jewelry business is among the fastest-growing in America, because, more and more, keen Americans are putting their shopping money into imperishable values.

There is no finer gift than an Egan Watch. Warranted as a gold watch, ranging from $15 to $7500.

THE COST

Of Maintaining State Institutions Has Greatly Increased.

Columbus, April 20.—(U.P.)—Declaring the cost of maintaining state institutions has increased enormously, State Welfare Director Harper today appealed to the State Board of Control for transfer of $275,000 to the welfare department.

All the principal food commodities such as flour, potatoes, beans, canned goods and meats have increased in price, consequently increasing state expenditures $115,000 Harper said, adding that the population of state institutions also has increased.

State farms, due to inclement weather, have failed to produce the usual spring crops, Harper said, and the welfare department has been required to spend thousands of dollars for vegetables.

The annual food appropriation this year is $1,750,000, Harper said and under normal conditions this would be sufficient.

The Welfare Director requested the board of control to authorize him to utilize the $275,000 balance in the rotary manufacturing and sales fund. It would be repaid from current appropriations, he said.

The state board of control late today authorized State Welfare Director Harper to borrow $275,000 from the state manufacturing and sales fund to purchase supplies for state institutions now facing deficits.

KNOCKED OUT

Richmond, Va., April 20.—(UP.)—One of the final chapters in the ill-fated Van Swearingen Nickel Plate railroad merger experiment was written today when John Stewart Bryan and George Cole Scott, leaders of the minority opposition to the plan, were elected to the Chesapeake & Ohio board of directors. All other directors were retained, the railroad's board being increased from eleven to twelve members in order to make place for Scott.

Lesson for April 25

THE STORY OF CAIN AND ABEL

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 4:1-16.
GOLDEN TEXT—Am I my brother's keeper?—Gen. 4:9.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Cain Quarrels with his Brother.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Cain Loses His Self-Control.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What Jealousy and Anger Lead to.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Sin of Hate.

I. The Birth of Cain and Abel (vv. 1-2).

In obedience to God's command to multiply and replenish the earth, the first children were born into the world. In the birth of Cain Eve thought that the promise of Genesis 3:15 was in process of fulfillment, and exclaimed, "I have gotten a man from the Lord." Soon afterwards she gave birth to Abel. Both sons were born outside of Eden. It was after the fall of our first parents and their expulsion from Eden that they brought forth children in the likeness of their fallen nature. Through the law of heredity this stream of corruption has been flowing on from generation to generation.

II. The Respective Callings of Cain and Abel (v. 2).

Cain was a tiller of the ground and Abel a keeper of sheep. This shows that the primitive employment of man was agriculture and stock raising; in fact, before the fall, man's occupation was horticulture.

III. The Respective Offerings of Cain and Abel (vv. 3-4).

Both were worshipers; both brought offerings—Cain of the first-fruits of the ground and Abel of the firstlings of his flock. They both recognized God and His claims upon them. "The Lord had respect unto Abel and his offerings, but not unto Cain." Why this difference? Is God a respecter of persons? Was Abel better by nature than Cain? By no means, for there is no difference (Rom. 3:22). They both were born outside of Eden, therefore they both possessed the same depraved nature. The answer is given in Hebrews 11:4—"By faith Abel offered unto God a more excellent sacrifice than Cain." This leads us to the conclusion that God had taught the necessity of offering a bloody sacrifice, a vicarious substitute, that acceptance with Him was dependent upon the offering of a being apart from themselves as their substitute, which prefigured the atonement of Jesus Christ (Rom. 10:17).

IV. The Lord's Attitude Toward Their Offerings (vv. 4-11).

1. He accepted Abel's offerings (v. 4).

The reason for this acceptance was not because of Abel's goodness, but because he recognized his need as a sinner and by faith brought the sacrifice which represented the substitutionary offering of another in his stead (Heb. 11:4; Rom. 10:17).

2. He rejected Cain's offering (v. 5).

This was not because of the moral badness of Cain, but because he in the energy of his self-will, brought the fruit of his own toil.

3. Cain rebuked (vv. 6, 7).

Cain, having sullenly resented the Lord's action, the Lord put a question of searching rebuke to him. As He extended His mercy to Cain, so He will give consideration to all who forsake their self-will and approach Him through the Lamb which was slain. The sin offering is lying at the door of everyone.

V. Cain Slays Abel (v. 8).

He showed hypocritical friendship for Abel (1 John 3:2) to get a good chance to kill him. It is strange that the first murder grew out of the first recorded act of worship. This first murder was but a forecast of the oceans of blood which have been shed in the name of religion.

VI. God's Judgment Upon Cain (vv. 9-16).

Soon after Cain's sin, God asked Cain to account for Abel, his brother. Instead of confessing his guilt and suing for pardon, he tried to lie out of it, even answering God with defiance, disputing His right to bring him into judgment.

1. Unrequited toll.

The earth failed to respond in fruitfulness to Cain's toiling.

2. A degraded outcast.

He was condemned to perpetual exile.

3. Banished from the presence of God.

He not only was thrust out from home and society, but from the divine presence. Cain realized the greatness of his punishment, but showed no repentance of his sin.

4. God set a mark upon him.

The Image of God

Even the birds build their nests and feed their young, singing the while. And the animals dig their burrows in the ground, working as if it were play. And yet it has not been said of them that they were made in the image of God.—Willard Brown Thorp.

Trustfulness

The prayer that begins with trustfulness, and passes on into waiting will always end in thankfulness, triumph and praise.

GAS FUMES FATAL TO TWO WOMEN

Youngstown, April 20.—(UP.)—Mrs. Charles L. Kirby, prominent Youngstown club woman, was found dead in her home here today, apparently the victim of asphyxiation.

In another part of the stately Kirby mansion, was found the unconscious form of Mrs. Kirby's maid, Christina Paluguda, who also apparently had inhaled gas fumes.

Both women were overcome while working in the kitchen, according to the results of a preliminary inquiry. All the windows in the kitchen were closed. Gas was pouring from a range.

One Bullet Wounds Six on Army Target Range

San Juan, Porto Rico.—The military authorities report an unusual case in which two officers and four enlisted men were wounded by a single bullet accidentally discharged from an army rifle. At least one man, Private E. Rodriguez, was seriously hurt.

The accident occurred on the target range of the Sixty-fifth Infantry. A rifle which was being cleaned by a soldier was accidentally discharged. The bullet wounded Private Rodriguez in the abdomen, then struck Private J. Delgado on the right knee, was deflected from a rifle leaning against a scorer's board and struck Private M. Emillano in the neck, then struck in turn Capt. John T. Dibrell and Lieut. John Shaw and finally lodged in the hip of Private A. Roque.

BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL WOMEN MEETING

"The Persian Garden" May be Put on by Chillicothe Talent.

The Business & Professional Women's club held their regular bi-monthly business meeting at 7:30 Tuesday evening, April 20, in the club rooms.

President Mrs. Graham presented to the club the proposition of the presentation of the concert entitled "The Persian Garden" by the Maxwell chorus of Chillicothe. It was decided by the club that if it could be given on our terms, with tickets selling at a price not to exceed that of the "Rose Maiden" cantata, the club would sponsor the production.

The Daylight Savings time was unanimously endorsed by the club. Numerous letters were read by Mrs. Graham from the state executive committee in regard to the coming state and national conventions.

Several matters of legislation were referred to the legislation chairman, Miss Anna Florence, after receiving the endorsement of the club.

Mrs. Graham appointed Mrs. Mary G. Morris and Mrs. Irma Stevenson a committee to select possible delegates to the coming conventions of the federation.

Miss Blanche Young was named to fill the unexpired term of Miss Helen Rowe, who resigned as chairman of the program committee.

This closed the business session for the evening and the social session in charge of Miss Clara Southward, was opened by a reading by Miss Nellie Palm, after which Miss Mary Wilder interestingly reviewed her experiences as chairman of the district Library convention which met in Columbus at the Neil House.

Several members made use of their opportunity in the dime-growing contest by selling coffee and sandwiches to the club members after the meeting adjourned.

Cleveland, O., April 22, (UP) — Petitions to bring about the submission of a constitutional amendment exempting automobiles from taxation in Ohio were put in circulation Thursday at 200 gasoline filling stations throughout the city.

The movement sponsored by the Automobile Owners' Protective league of which City Councilman Peter Witt is chairman, is aimed at getting the required 250,000 signatures of qualified electors in at least 44 of the 88 counties in the state.

"During 1925 the automobile owners of the state of Ohio have been compelled to pay out more than $23,000,000 for license plates and gas tax," said Witt. In 1926 they will have to pay even more and with the legislature meeting again soon, and no restrictions placed upon it, the burden will rapidly grow still greater.

"The constitutional amendment proposed by the automobile owners protective league will exempt the automobile from taxation," declare Witt.

AIRPLANES.

Two fleets of airplanes, one of nine and the other of thirteen planes flew over the city this morning maneuvering in beautiful formations and attracting a great deal of attention.

The planes probably came from the Wright field at Dayton and when they left flew in a southwesterly direction. This is the first exhibition of airplanes in such large numbers that has visited this city, and if they were bombers this city could have easily been destroyed.

STOKOWSKI HAS A JOKE

Has Players To Imitate Habits of Audiences—Just a Bit of Satire.

Philadelphia, April 20.—(UP.)—Leopold Stokowski, conductor of the Philadelphia orchestra, has had his little joke on patrons of music and his audience doesn't know whether to grin or scowl.

It seems that Philadelphia audiences arrive late. They also leave early. All of which annoyed the eminent Stokowski.

Hence yesterday's program was devoted to satire. When the curtain went up only two musicians were in their places. These played alone until other players entered hurriedly, made unnecessary commotion in taking their seats and began to play.

Then there was a second surprise. In the midst of another number one or two in the orchestra, apparently wearied of playing walked off the stage. The exodus continued until only two were left. Finally those also departed, but Stokowski kept up his "direction" to the end, bowed to his phantom orchestra, then to the audience and the concert was over.

Some in the audience applauded the satire. Others hissed. A few much disgruntled, walked out.

WASHINGTON SPECIALS

Washington, April 20.—(UP.)—President Coolidge does not favor national censorship of moving-pictures but believes that certain powers should be placed in the hands of state authorities. The president's spokesman today pointed out that Mr. Coolidge while governor of Massachusetts vetoed a bill creating a state censorship board. He remarked, however, that the opposition was based on constitutional right rather than on the merits of the pictures.

Enactment of the Caraway bill to prevent the sale of cotton and grain in future markets would result "in strangulation of trade in cotton and grain on the exchanges where these crops are finally marketed," according to a report submitted to the Senate today by Senator Ransdell, Democrat, Louisiana.

Believed To Be Only Father of President of U. S. To Survive His Son.

Washington, April 20.—Rarely in American history has it happened that a father has lived to see his son become president of the United States.

Still more rarely has it happened that a father has survived a son who occupied the White House and lived well into the administration of his successor.

In fact, so far as the records show, it has happened only once, and that in the case of Dr. George Tyron Harding, father of the lamented President Warren G. Harding.

Dr. Harding, still sound and vigorous at 82, arrived in Washington this week from Florida, where, with his wife, he spent the winter. He visited his hometown congressman, Representative Brooks Fletcher, of Marion, at the capitol, called on Senators Frank B. Willis and Simeon D. Fess and paid his respects to President Coolidge and Vice President Dawes.

Although he lives much in the glories of the past—the thrilling years of his youth when he served as a Union soldier in the Civil war, the peaceful post-war years when he reared his large family and made his rounds as a country doctor, and the later proud years when he watched his distinguished son rise to the presidency—Dr. Harding continues an active and intense interest in the present.

In Florida he caught the boom spirit, invested money in real estate and not long ago saw a Harding subdivision opened near Orlando. He has faith in Florida, notwithstanding the gradual deflation of the boom and he plans to return there for many recurring winters to come.

One of Dr. Harding's concerns in Washington was the Elliott bill, increasing Civil war pensions. The average age of Union veterans is now 83. They are rapidly dying and becoming totally disabled. Their need is increasingly greater. Dr. Harding told the president that many are actually in distress because their present stipends are inadequate.

METHODIST BISHOP

Testifies Before Senate Prohibition Committee.

Washington, April 20.—(UP.)—"We firmly believe that, liberty can only be secured under law, and that anarchy and the utter destruction of lawful government would follow the adoption of the principle that whenever laws are found difficult to enforce they should be amended to permit milder forms of evil," Bishop William M. Fraser McDowell of the Methodist Episcopal Church said.

"We do not trust the distillers, the brewers, the saloon-keepers or those who are hired by them to do their work."

Bishop McDowell asserted that the cause for the wet campaign was the desire of the liquor interests to regain a foothold, and that beer and light wines were only being used as a facile means to that end.

"It voices a universal law, that only a sober people can make a growing, progressive and Christian nation," he said.

STATE'S LAST

Witness In Lyon Case Testified Against Prisoner.

Norwalk, April 20.—(UP.)—Fred Cole, a pistol expert, delivered what was described as a smashing blow to the defense of James "Two-Gun" Lyon today when he testified that the bullet which killed Detective Frank E. McGrath was fired from a distance of only about six inches.

Lyon, on trial for the alleged murder of McGrath, will raise the defense that he did not fire the fatal shot but that it was fired by one of McGrath's brother officers who had accompanied the detective to Havana, near here, to arrest James and his brother Leonard on charges of robbery.

Cole testified he based his opinion on the fact that large powder burns were visible on the clothing of the slain officer. He was the State's last witness.

After the reading of a few minor documents, the state planned to rest its case.

Plans to Increase Soil Productivity

Crop Rotation as Good as Manure and Fertilizers.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

In the practice of crop rotation a farmer has at his command a means whereby he can materially reduce acre costs or increase the output of his land, says W. W. Weir, associate soil technologist of the United States Department of Agriculture. Perhaps that fact is not news to many farmers who have been using rotation in their crop system; they know it is a beneficial practice.

They may be surprised, however, says Mr. Weir, to learn that crop rotation is nearly as effective in increasing soil productivity as the use of manure and commercial fertilizers. Furthermore, crop rotation can be practiced usually with no outlay of money, whereas the use of commercial fertilizers requires an expenditure of money.

A study of the long-continued soil fertility experiments of this country and of England, made by the Department of Agriculture, has brought out some important facts about crop rotation in its relation to soil productivity. In general, says Mr. Weir, they show that rotation without the use of manure or commercial fertilizers is nearly as efficient in effecting crop increases as the use of fertilizers without rotation. The beneficial effects of crop rotation are different from the benefits derived from the use of fertilizers; so that when these two farm practices are combined the one practice adds to the benefits of the other, making the resultant increase almost twice that secured by either practice used alone.

On soils long under cultivation highest yields are possible only when rotation and the use of fertilizers are practiced together.

Dairy Cow Has Financed Farmers When Needed

Farmers realized nearly as much from dairy cows during 1925 as from their corn and wheat crops combined, according to figures issued by the National Dairy council.

According to careful estimates based on investigation, the farm value of all dairy products for the year 1925, is $2,700,000,000. This is only about $200,000,000 less than the total farm value of wheat and corn, the government estimate of the combined farm value of the latter being $2,904,269,000.

"But the important fact," states M. D. Munn, president of the National Dairy council, "is that American farmers have marketed their dairy products day by day throughout the year without any accumulated surplus on their hands and have thus received funds with which they have been able to live and help finance their other farm operations, while they still have much of their corn and wheat on hand."

"This vast sum of nearly two and three-fourths billions has financed diversified farming in this country and relieved agriculture from what would otherwise have been insurmountable difficulties, especially in view of the accumulated surplus of grains together with the low prices that now prevail. In addition to the cash return to the farmer through the dairy cow he has also been supplied with dairy products for his own family use, which have materially assisted in reducing living expenses."

Sweet Clover Requires Firm, Moist Seed Bed

Sweet clover seed, being very small, should be planted shallow. In order that it may grow when planted shallow, the soil must be quite firm and full of moisture. Perhaps most of the failures with sweet clover are due to plowing, or otherwise loosening up the seed bed before planting the crop in the spring. Early spring plowing loosens and permits the top soil to dry out and so prevent a good stand of sweet clover.

Land to be planted to this crop should be fall plowed, or, even better, summer fallowed the year preceding. Where such land is not available, cornstalk land, millet or cane land is suitable, giving it only a light disking as preparation before seeding sweet clover. As much of the stubble as possible should be left standing to catch snow and prevent soil blowing.

Sweet clover should be planted as early in the spring as possible. Use eight to ten pounds of clean, scarified seed per acre. Where possible, drill in the seed, planting at the depth of one inch. Where one cannot drill so shallow, he should broadcast and harrow in the seed. No nurse crop should be used.—Waldo Kidder, Extension Agronomist, Colorado College of Agriculture.

Hens Used for Hatching Purposes Need Dusting

All hens used for egg-hatching purposes should be dusted with a good louse powder when they are placed on the eggs. The only preparation known to kill lice with one application is sodium fluoride. Put a piece of sod in the bottom of the nest to prevent excessive evaporation. Set two hens at a time so that the chicks may be given to one hen later. Feed cracked or whole grains to the biddies, being careful to avoid feeds that stimulate egg production or cause digestive disorders, say poultry extension specialists of the Pennsylvania State college.

AMUSEMENTS

When you see Raymond Griffith at the Met theater you'll readily admit "He's a Prince!" in the picture by the title which holds a high class program.

"He's a Prince!" directed by Edward Sutherland from Keene Thompson's adaptation of the story by Reginald Morris and Joseph Mitchell, is a strictly Griffith story, with Griffith gags and Griffith ideas.

As a young and exceedingly likeable prince of modern times, Ray whose life is an endless chain of cornerstone layings, parade reviews, ship christenings, etc., declares a strike for shorter hours and more fun. He is informed that his appointment book is filled for months to come. He can't quit, so he decides to run away.

And run away he does, sneaking out of the castle with a party of tourists. Mary Brian is in the crowd and the prince falls for her right then and there. She pooh-poohs the idea that he is a prince and Ray chases her all over the country with his love-making, only to be overtaken by his father's prime minister who hands him an official looking document which announces the death of the king.

So back to the palace goes Ray, fidgets thru the coronation ceremony wondering why the girl, who had promised to be there, doesn't show up. Thru with the king game for good. Ray sets out from under his crown and ermine robe by arranging with an anarchist, who has been agitating for years to dethrone him. Free again Ray starts after Mary. This time he wins her. Now that he has the girl of his dreams, he believes his parade-reviewing, uniform changing days are over, only to discover at the tag end of the picture that he has to do all these things just the same as when he was king—now that he is president of the new republic.

Paramount furnished Griffith with his own special comedy production unit for this one. More power to them!

Remember Mary Brian as "The Little French Girl" and in "The Street of Forgotten Men?" She's more charming than ever here.

Tyrone Power is cast as the king, Ray's father; Nigel de Bruliere is the revolutionist who double-crosses Griffith and Gustav Von Seyffertitz is cast as the prime minister. Others include Kathleen Kirkham, Carl Stockdale, Michael Dark, Lincoln Plummer in a comedy role, as the tourist guide Jacqueline Gadson and Jerry Austin.

Footprints in Brick

Warrenton, Va.—As the work of tearing down the old clerk's office building in Warrenton is nearing completion, many interesting facts have been obtained. Screw's Evolution

There is little published information concerning the history of the making of screws, but it is said that a whole change from the old-fashioned method of making screws to the modern method was effected between 1800 and 1810, largely through the efforts of Maudslay.

CRIME WAVE?

It could hardly be called that.

Yet, many a time it has been said that it is a crime to let shoes go too long before having them resoled.

Lots of good repairable shoes are lying around inactive that could be repaired and would give long additional service. This is almost criminal waste.

It is practically criminal waste to buy cheap, unrepairable shoes. Our

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

ANCIENT VIKING KINGS WERE CREMATED IN KILNS
Recent Excavations in Swedish Mounds Shed Light on Unique Funeral Services.

Upsala, Sweden.—Proof that the Viking kings of Sweden were cremated inside of firmly constructed kilns and not on top of ordinary pyres has been unearthed here by Prof. Sune Lindquist during his excavations in one of the famous funeral mounds located near this university city known as the Swedish "Cradle of Culture." Long before Stockholm became the capital, Upsala was the seat of the Swedish kings and when they died their bodies were solemnly burned in a special homage.

Through observation of the materials uncovered inside a hitherto unopened mound, the archeologist has come to the conclusion that for a king's funeral some 1,500 years ago an elaborate and solid structure of wood was erected on the traditional site and inside this building the royal remains and certain weapons and ornaments were placed to accompany him on the journey to Valhalla.

The successive layers of gravel, burnt clay and ashes prove that the funeral kiln was constructed on a pile of loose stones which admitted air from below, and then logs were fitted together to form a small dome with an opening at the top. Then after the king's body had been placed inside, the walls were coated with a thick layer of clay, making them air-tight. When therefore a torch was applied at the base, a strong draft helped to start the conflagration that consumed both logs and contents.

After the combustion of the inner frame—the clay coating also collapsed and the entire remains were then covered up with sand and gravel. In this way the mounds grew in height with each royal funeral and today some of them are as high as 30 feet.

This interpretation of the cremation method which has its counterpart in certain Roman customs, is strikingly confirmed both by passages in the Icelandic sagas and Anglo-Saxon epic about Beowulf. One of the incidents in the Icelandic literature for instance tells of a Swedish king named Frey, who had ruled his people in peace for many years and when he died, he was secretly put inside of a pyre, built with a door and three openings and fearing failure of crops and war, as soon as his spirit departed for Valhalla, his subjects kept him there for three years before they applied the torch.

14 Billions Yearly U. S. Auto Expense

New York.—America's automobile bill, including costs of cars, insurance, upkeep, gasoline and numerous other items of expense, totals more than $14,000,000,000 annually, the bureau of industrial technology estimates in a report made public here. Figures obtained by the bureau showed that it costs the average automobile owner $700 a year to own and operate his car.

The figures were computed from statistics of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, "the Motors and Accessories Manufacturers' association, tire producers' organizations, insurance companies, labor organizations and gasoline and oil distributors. The survey revealed, according to the bureau, that the nation's annual retail investment in automobiles is twice as great as the annual investment in new buildings.

The average retail value of cars, including accessories, was found to be $1,000. Of the present output at the rate of 4,000,000 automobiles annually approximately $150,000,000 worth are exported.

Demonstrating where the "automobile dollar" goes, the bureau prepared a table showing that the costs of cars and accessories now stand at approximately $3,750,000,000 annually; depreciation was estimated at $2,500,000,000; upkeep, repairs, $2,000,000,000; drivers' wages, $1,600,000,000; gasoline, $1,200,000,000; garages, $900,000,000; taxes, $625,000,000; interest on investment, $500,000,000; tires, $618,000,000; oil, $300,000,000 and insurance $300,000,000.

Increase in Jobs and Earnings Is Reported

Washington.—Employment in manufacturing industries and employees' earnings continued to increase during February, declares a bureau of labor statistics report, giving the employment gain as 1.1 per cent and the earnings increase as 4.2 per cent as compared with January. Since February, 1925, the advances have totaled 2.9 per cent for employment and 4 per cent for earnings. The figures were based on reports from 9,540 establishments, covering 2,952,165 employees, whose combined earnings in one week were $79,793,644.

Oil was used for burning in lamps as early as the time of the Patriarch Abraham. It was the custom of the ancient Jews to anoint with oil persons appointed to high offices, as the priests and kings. A land of corn and oil and wine was a brief description of a rich, attractive country.

He did his gift-shopping at the jeweler's!

A JEWELRY PURCHASE IS AN INVESTMENT IN PERMANENT VALUES

MEN and nations pass. But their jewels remain.

Of all the possessions of ancient civilizations, the most enduring have been the tokens wrought in precious stones and metals.

Gone are the palaces of Egyptian kings; their gorgeous apparel and equipages. But scattered among the museums of today, in all parts of the world, many of their jewels are still intact; more beautiful and infinitely more valuable than ever.

Today, as always, a purchase at the jeweler's is an investment in permanent values.

Jewelry is one of the few luxury commodities which can be "consumed" year by year, decade after decade, without materially lessening the quantity or quality of the basic value!

Building up a line of jewelry means building up an asset-heritage for future generations, while enjoying the delight and charm of beautiful adornment in the building.

The jewelry business is among the fastest-growing in America, because, more and more, keen Americans are putting their shopping money into imperishable values.

THE COST

Of Maintaining State Institutions Has Greatly Increased.

Columbus, April 20.—(U.P.)—Declaring the cost of maintaining state institutions has increased enormously, State Welfare Director Harper today appealed to the State Board of Control for transfer of $275,000 to the welfare department.

All the principal food commodities such as flour, potatoes, beans, canned goods and meats have increased in price, consequently increasing state expenditures $115,000 Harper said, adding that the population of state institutions also has increased.

State farms, due to inclement weather, have failed to produce the usual spring crops, Harper said, and the welfare department has been required to spend thousands of dollars for vegetables.

The annual food appropriation this year is $1,750,000, Harper said and under normal conditions this would be sufficient.

The Welfare Director requested the board of control to authorize him to utilize the $275,000 balance in the rotary manufacturing and sales fund. It would be repaid from current appropriations, he said.

The state board of control late today authorized State Welfare Director Harper to borrow $275,000 from the state manufacturing and sales fund to purchase supplies for state institutions now facing deficits.

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D.D., Dean of the Evening School, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)
(©, 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for April 25

THE STORY OF CAIN AND ABEL

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 4:1-16.
GOLDEN TEXT—Am I my brother's keeper?—Gen. 4:9.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Cain Quarrels with his Brother.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Cain Loses His Self-Control.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What Jealousy and Anger Lead to.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Sin of Hate.

I. The Birth of Cain and Abel (vv. 1-2).

In obedience to God's command to multiply and replenish the earth, the first children were born into the world. In the birth of Cain Eve thought that the promise of Genesis 3:15 was in process of fulfillment, and exclaimed, "I have gotten a man from the Lord." Soon afterwards she gave birth to Abel. Both sons were born outside of Eden. It was after the fall of our first parents and their expulsion from Eden that they brought forth children in the likeness of their fallen nature. Through the law of heredity this stream of corruption has been flowing on from generation to generation.

II. The Respective Callings of Cain and Abel (v. 2).

Cain was a tiller of the ground and Abel a keeper of sheep. This shows that the primitive employment of man was agriculture and stock raising; in fact, before the fall, man's occupation was horticulture.

III. The Respective Offerings of Cain and Abel (vv. 3-4).

Both were worshippers; both brought offerings—Cain of the first-fruits of the ground and Abel of the firstlings of his flock. They both recognized God and His claims upon them. "The Lord had respect unto Abel and his offerings, but not unto Cain." Why this difference? Is God a respecter of persons? Was Abel better by nature than Cain? By no means, for there is no difference (Rom. 3:22). They both were born outside of Eden, therefore they both possessed the same depraved nature. The answer is given in Hebrews 11:4—"By faith Abel offered unto God a more excellent sacrifice than Cain." This leads us to the conclusion that God had taught the necessity of offering a bloody sacrifice, a vicarious substitute, that acceptance with Him was dependent upon the offering of a being apart from themselves as their substitute, which prefigured the atonement of Jesus Christ (Rom. 10:17).

IV. The Lord's Attitude Toward Their Offerings (vv. 4-11).

1. He accepted Abel's offerings (v. 4).

The reason for this acceptance was not because of Abel's goodness, but because he recognized his need as a sinner and by faith brought the sacrifice which represented the substitutionary offering of another in his stead (Heb. 11:4; Rom. 10:17).

2. He rejected Cain's offering (v. 5). This was not because of the moral badness of Cain, but because he in the energy of his self-will, brought the fruit of his own toil.

3. Cain rebuked (vv. 6, 7).

Cain, having sullenly resented the Lord's action, the Lord put a question of searching rebuke to him. As He extended His mercy to Cain, so He will give consideration to all who forsake their self-will and approach Him through the Lamb which was slain. The sin offering is lying at the door of everyone.

V. Cain Slays Abel (v. 8).

He showed hypocritical friendship for Abel (I John 3:2) to get a good chance to kill him. It is strange that the first murder grew out of the first recorded act of worship. This first murder was but a forecast of the oceans of blood which have been shed in the name of religion.

VI. God's Judgment Upon Cain (vv. 9-16).

Soon after Cain's sin, God asked Cain to account for Abel, his brother. Instead of confessing his guilt and suing for pardon, he tried to lie out of it, even answering God with defiance, disputing His right to bring him into judgment.

1. Unrequited toil.

The earth failed to respond in fruitfulness to Cain's toiling.

2. A degraded outcast.

He was condemned to perpetual exile.

3. Banished from the presence of God.

He not only was thrust out from home and society, but from the divine presence. Cain realized the greatness of his punishment, but showed no repentance of his sin.

4. God set a mark upon him.

In another part of the stately Kirby mansion, was found the unconscious form of Mrs. Kirby's maid, Christina Paluguda, who also apparently had inhaled gas fumes.

STETSON HATS

CONSIDERED from the standpoint of the length of time you wear it, a Stetson is the cheapest hat you can buy. The smart style is an added attraction that costs you nothing, but it's a big factor in hat-satisfaction—an unbecoming style looks better on the shelf.

Our Stetson styles for this season will not stay here very long,—they will go out quickly on the heads of satisfied wearers.

Just Trying to Be Smart

Of course, slangy persons who speak of a rider thrown from his horse as "doing a Wales" aren't trying especially to please the prince—Boston Globe.

One Bullet Wounds Six on Army Target Range

San Juan, Porto Rico.—The military authorities report an unusual case in which two officers and four enlisted men were wounded by a single bullet accidentally discharged from an army rifle. At least one man, Private E. Rodriguez, was seriously hurt.

The accident occurred on the target range of the Sixty-fifth infantry. A rifle which was being cleaned by a soldier was accidentally discharged. The bullet wounded Private Rodriguez in the abdomen, then struck Private J. Delgado on the right knee, was deflected from a rifle leaning against a scorer's board and struck Private M. Emilliano in the neck, then struck in turn Capt. John T. Dibreil and Lieut. John Shaw and finally lodged in the hip of Private A. Roque.

BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL WOMEN MEETING

"The Persian Garden" May be Put on by Chillicothe Talent.

The Business & Professional Women's club held their regular bi-monthly business meeting at 7:30 Tuesday evening, April 20, in the club rooms.

President Mrs. Graham presented to the club the proposition of the presentation of the concert entitled "The Persian Garden" by the Maxwell chorus of Chillicothe. It was decided by the club that if it could be given on our terms, with tickets selling at a price not to exceed that of the "Rose Maiden" cantata, the club would sponsor the production.

The Daylight Savings time was unanimously endorsed by the club. Numerous letters were read by Mrs. Graham from the state executive committee in regard to the coming state and national conventions.

Several matters of legislation were referred to the legislation chairman, Miss Anna Florence, after receiving the endorsement of the club.

Mrs. Graham appointed Mrs. Mary G. Morris and Mrs. Irma Stevenson a committee to select possible delegates to the coming conventions of the federation.

Miss Blanche Young was named to fill the unexpired term of Miss Helen Rowe, who resigned as chairman of the program committee.

This closed the business session for the evening and the social session in charge of Miss Clara Southward, was opened by a reading by Miss Nellie Palm, after which Miss Mary Wilder interestingly reviewed her experiences as chairman of the district Library convention which met in Columbus at the Neil House.

Several members made use of their opportunity in the dime-growing contest by selling coffee and sandwiches to the club members after the meeting adjourned.

Guide to Destiny

That character and destiny can be read by watching people dance is the novel declaration of a society clairvoyant. Women especially, she thinks, give themselves away, as it were, when they dance.

A Hunter

In the South Sea islands there is a little fish about six inches long called the mud-skinner, that leaves the water to hunt insects and worms on the beach.
